denials, reports of movements through heavy German troop Slovakia are persisting.

Large numbers of tanks, transport vehicles and armoured cars are rumbling through Prague, the former capital of Czecho-Slovakia, in constant procession, according to reports from Correspondents there.

One report this morning claimed that nearly ten divisions of crack German troops were now concentrated on the Slovak-Polish frontier.

Meanwhile, the German presswhich adopted the same attitude with reference to reports of troop concentrations just before the invasion of Bohemia and Moravia-is bitterly attacking "alarmist reports."

Categorical denials of troop movements, and of Germany's alleged intention of partitioning Slovakia between herself and Hungary, were given in inspired statements this morning, which declared that the reports in foreign newspapers were "part of a well-considered plan which his into the general framework of the encirclement policy."

Death Stretches Barrier

A WALL of pulsating and invisible death, fed from the giant generators of the Tientsin Electric Power Station, now the Tientsin Electric Power Station, now surrounds the British and French Concessions in Britain's Mafeking of the Far East.

Sharply at 10 o'clock last night, the Japanese authorities fulfilled their warning issued by proclamation nine hours earlier, and threw in the switches that sent 240 volts of death through thirty miles of barbed wire surrounding the two Concessions.

LONDON, June 19.

THE GOVERNMENT does not recognise the right of the Japanese authorities to arrest or detain any British subject under any circumstances. The Japanese Government has been left in no doubt as to the Government's attitude in the matter.

This declaration was made by Mr. Butler in the House of Commons to-day, in the course of a reply to Mr. Alan Graham. Mr. Graham had referred to the statement of a Japanese official spokesman in Shanghai that the Japanese reserve the right to take summary action against any foreigner who, in their opinion, endangers the safety of the Japanese forces in the occupied areas.

WATERROSE OVER MY HEAD. MY MIND

GOING?

IN A COPYRIGHT INTERVIEW WITH THE LONDON "DAILY EXPRESS", MR. FRANK SHAW GAVE A DRAMATIC STORY OF HIS RESCUE FROM THE THETIS. IN THE COURSE OF THE INTERVIEW, HE SAID:

It was a fine morning when we left Cammell Laird's at Birkenhead in the Thetis for the submarine to do her acceptance trials in Liverpool Bay. The sea was very smooth.

I was in the control room when the order was given to dive. I didn't think much about it: the ship had been down before.

But I did have an idea she began to dip a bit steeply, and soon the angle was very steep. Then we hit the bottom. There was a heavy jolt—not a crash or anything—but it sent every one flying off his feet. We fell against the forward bulkhead and had to catch hold of something to try to stand up.

The deck was cocked at about 45 degs. Tools and binoculars and all sorts of loose gear came crashing down. Orders were given by shouts and by phone through the ship to shut all the watertight doors. We had to clamber about like monkeys because of the angle of the ship.

There was suddenly silence. All the machinery stopped—not because of the bump, but no orders from the control room. It was so quiet that you could hear men moving about. I looked at the men near me, and they looked at me. I suppose they realised, too, that something had gone wrong.

I helped to close our watertight doors. Though we were locked up in compartments the officers, using the phone, were able to speak at once to almost all parts of the ship.

We soon realised the forward compartments were flooded, but we discovered the men had managed to escape and close the watertight doors behind them.

So far as I can remember the lights were still on. Reports came to the control room from other parts of the Thetis that nothing had apparently been broken when we hit the bottom. We opened our watertight door leading to the next compartment, which was then almost underneath us because of the ship's angle.

APLICHAU DEATH

Witnesses Fined For False Evidence

Four witnesses in a death inquiry held at the Central Magistracy yesterday, were fined by the Coroner, Mr. T. J. Houston, for wilful lying. They were called to give evidence into the circumstances attending the death of a man, Lau Chau, 53, who was found in the water near Aplichau, Aberdeen, on May 15.

Tlentsin, June 19. The newly-appointed Commander of the French Garrison in Tientsin, accompanied by his adjutant, called on the Commander of the Japanese Garrison this morning. The Japanese Commander returned the call in the afternoon.

Captain Catallano Gonzaga, Commander of the Italian naval forces in China, called on the Japanese Commander at the latter's headquarters in the afternoon.

In view of the tense situation arising from the Japanese blockade against the British Concession, much significance is seen in the exchange of courtesy calls.—Domei.

Press Comments

Paris, June 19. The situation in the Far East is the main preoccupation of the Preis tsin with Mr. Yoshizawa, Chief of to-day.

Le Petit Journal warns that it will be difficult to avoid an eventual explosion in the Far East if one continues to amuse oneself playing with matches round barrels of powder. The paper remarks, however, that the Anglo-Japanese affair in Tients:a can, and ought, to be solved, because basically it is in the interests of the two countries to keep normal relations with each other.

L'Epoque says that effective economic sanctions must be supported by arms, and that is why particular importance attaches to the meeting of the British and French commanders in Singapore.

Pertinax, in Le Ordre, considers that it would not be difficult for Japan to take the Tientsin and Shanghal Concession by force "1 arms, but sooner or later her onquest will be subject to a peacef l or warlike decision in Europe and the would not withstand coercive economic measures by England, France and the United States. -Reuter.

Fine (Loucester's Barnett A Sporting Declaration

London, May 20. A splendid exhibition of enterprising batting on the part of Charles Barnett caused the downfall of Yorkshire at Bradford, where Gloucestershire gained a remarkable victory by six wickets with five minutes to spare.

Yorkshire's declaration was a most sporting one. The champions had obtained a first innings lead of 26 runs, and Sellers went all out for victory. The Yorkshire batsmen Scott sacrificed their wickets in order to Barnett 8 score quickly, and when Sellers de- Goddard clared Gloucestershire faced the task of making 189 in 100 minutes.

Hammond accepted the challenge, Goddard Bowes and Verlty, came in for severe treatment. Within 25 minutes the being first to leave after scoring, 90 out of 132.

BOWES HIT FOR SIXES

In spite of his fearless hitting, Barnett gave no semblance of a chance and his strokes included four 6's and eight 4's. Two of his 6's came in one over from Bowes-one being a hit over the square leg boundary and the other a drive into the pavilion

Barnett was attempting his fifth 6 when he fell to a brilliant catch by Mitchell, who held the ball inches short of the boundary.

For a long time Sinfield, Barnett's partner, held a watching brief so completely was he overshadowed, but he played his part well. There July were five 4's to Sinfield's credit and Oct. when he was third to leave after buting 80 minutes, Gloucestershire reguired only 29 more with 20 minutes

Hammond and Hopkins joined in the fun, each helping himself to a six, and Gloucestershire, getting the runs in 95 minutes, gained their first win over Yorkshire since they beat them twice in 1934. YORKSHIRE

DARIS has given waists the top line in the Fashion story this season. Practically every frock is belted to emphasize this vogue. The new wide belts especially give effect to the present feminine and girlish look of the top of dresses, and enhance the grace of a slender waist, without the restrictions of tight lacing.

So important has this accessory not become that a fashionable belt bar has opened London where the belts are so varied that you are sure of finding one to give the right touch of originality to your dress.

Belts merge into the style, they are not merely a violent contrast this season. The white tulle dress from Chanel . sketched here, with its navy spots of varying size, has an air of pristine freshness. Beneath the little jacket the white tulle blouse is belted with a soft silk belt.

In the second model of printed silk the belt follows the buttoned line of the bodice, while black velvet encircles the waist of the frilled skirted dress and ties in a bow at the back.

[LIKED a deep corselet belt of soft suede that was laced at the front. Another in American patent leather cloth had a stiff buckram front six inches deep which narrowed off to the side and had a concealed zipp fastening.

Tiny leaves in different coloured suede of soft tonings faced another style, while other designs, quite narrow, are to be had in their hundreds so that every frock can be complemented by the right belt.

For gay multi-coloured dresses choose the embroidered ones, or those trimmed with five or six narrow lines of American cloth in different colours stitched on to a net-background. For selfcoloured playtime frocks the accompanying belt is usually of plaited string or webbing.

And now a word on the style that will suit you. The small or average figure can wear belts of bootlace thickness or as wide as you please!

Maybe, however, you are on the plump side, then if you have a flared skirt and slightly padded shoulders and want to convey the impression of a narrow waist, start your belt from either side, but never wear an all-round belt.

MHEN a rubber hot water bottle is punctured it is usually thrown away, but it can be converted into an excellent kneeling pad by filling it with sawdust or bran. The hole should, of course, be patched with the help of a cycle repair outfit if it is large enough to allow the sawdust, to escape.

Potatoes that tend to turn black in the cooking can be considerably improved in colour by adding a teaspoon of vinegar to the water when they are about half-cooked.

Articles of clothing that have become stained with jodine should be washed with carbolic soap. Nothing else is quite so effective in removing this particular stain.

ROBBERS

Chief Justice Imposes Corporal Punishment

A plea for leniency fell on deaf ears when Chiu Tak, 30, and Lui Yuen, 25, were convicted before the Chief Justice Sir Atholl MacGregor at the Criminal Sessions yesterday of armed robbery at 37, Lion Rock Road on May 8, robbing Li San, and her two daughters, Ng Mel and Ng Ha of Huesan sano Chingsa and Ng Passed as Air Raid Wardens,—Mr. Hn, of H.K.$561, $600 Chinese currency and a quantity of jewellery. Lul Ho, a 28-year-old woman was charged with receiving.

children unable to earn money. His Lordship replied that he had not kong. Shown leniency towards the old woman he had robbed.

Chiu was sentenced to four years and 12 strokes of the cane, and Lui was given three and a half years and 12 strokes of the cat. Lui Ho, the woman, was also convicted, but her sentence was suspended until the next Sessions. His Lordship remarked that though from the first to the last she had not given the slightest assistance to the Police, he would give her the opportunity of disclosing all what she knew of the case by suspending her sentence until the next Sessions.

The jury empanellel to hear Lui Ho's case were Messrs. J. C. Gill (foreman), Li Kwok-hung, Ho Yanleung, F. H. Mody, Kwok San-lin, F.A.B.C. Fernandes and R. Grim-

Mr. J. Whyatt, Crown Counsel, said that in cases of receiving, the prosecution had to prove first that the articles were stolen, secondly that the articles were in defendant's possession, and thirdly that defendant knew they were stolen. There was no difficulty here in proving that the articles in the case were stolen for first and second defendants had pleaded guilty to the theft.

Men Enter Flat The facts of the case, continued Counsel, were that on the morning of May 7 the three women, Li San, the mother, Ng Mei and Ng Ha, the daughters, were on the third floor of 37. Lion Rock Road. At 10 n.m. n knock had been heard on the door. and Ng Mei had opened it to two men who said that they had come to look over the rooms that were for rent. Soon afterwards, another knock was heard and two more men entered. Then all four had entered, one of the men threatened Ng Mei with a knife and hustled all three women into the bathroom. From there they were later taken and bound and gagged. From Ng Mei's neck they cut a gold chain with a knife and from Li San took several

Following the report, the Police were swiftly in action, and on information, a detective went to 44, Pak Tai Street, second floor, and waited there. Early the morning Lui Ho entered the flat. She was carrying a basket. When questioned she said she did not know what was in the basket. Inside were two parcels, one contained jewellery and the other money. Inspector A. E. Carey was brought to the scene by telephone and he examined the premises. Defendant said that she had no witnesses for when the things were handed over to her the man had been the only witness.

The jury found her guilty by a temporary of six to one. Mr. Whyatt is mises. Defendant said that she occupled a small bed space near the verandah window. On the window sill near this space was found another parcel wrapped up in a baby's garment, and inside which were two smaller packets of money in sums of $130 and $6. She said that the parcels had been given to her by a boy on the stairs and she did not know what was inside them.

In answer to the charge she said, "I have nothing to say. Being ignorant of the laws of Hongkong, I received them from somebody. The bag did not belong to me, neither was it handed to me by my hus-

Mr_Whyatt concluded that under the circumstances, the only conclusion that could be arrived at was that the woman was in possession of the parcel, knowing that the contents had been stolen.

Evidence was given by Ng Mei and Li San, followed by Tse Yuk, who made the arrest. Inspector Carey deposed to finding the parcel on the window sill. Defendant said that she had act a man at the buitom of the stairs. He asked her to carry the parcel up for him. She carried them up and was arrested there. She did not know the things inside the parcel were stolen, for if the had known she could have made her escape. She would not have carried them if she had known they were stolen. She

GERMAN TROOPS RUMBLE EAST

LONDON, June 19. denials, reports of DESPITE GERMAN through movements heavy German troop Slovakia are persisting.

Large numbers of tanks, transport vehicles and armoured cars are rumbling through Prague, the former capital of Czecho-Slovakia, in constant procession, according to reports from Correspondents there.

One report this morning claimed that nearly ten divisions of crack German troops were now concentrated on the Slovak-Polish frontler.

Meanwhile, the German press-which adopted the same attitude with reference to reports of troop concentrations just before the invasion of Bohemia and Moravia--is bitterly attacking "alarmist reports."

Categorical denials of troop movements, and of Germany's alleged intention of partitioning Slovakia between herself and Hungary, were given in inspired statements this morning which declared that the re--ports -- in -- foreign -- newspapers -- were "part of a well-considered plan which Ats into the general framework of the encirclement policy."

Barrier Stretches Death

A WALL of pulsating and invisible death, fed from the giant generators of the Tientsin Electric Power Station, now surrounds the British and French Concessions in Britain's Mafeking of the Far East.

Sharply at 10 o'clock last night, the Japanese authorities fulfilled their warning issued by proclamation nine hours earlier, and threw in the switches that sent 240 volts of death through thirty miles of barbed wire surrounding the two Concessions.

SWIFT DEATH COMES

Although the Chinese populace in the Japanese Concessions and native cities were warned by posters and loud-speakers that the barbed-wire entanglements were electrified many, apparently, did not realise the significance of the latest move.

BLOCKADE COMPLETED

Electrification of the barrier of barbed wire has effectively completed the isolation of the two Concessions. It is virtually impossible now for any person to leave or enter the Concession without submitting to indignities at the hands of the Japanese.

Yesterday only three hundred persons passed the seven barriers, compared with the normal flow of over 100,000.

Practically every factory in the two Concessions is now idle, and tens of thousands of Chinese who formerly commuted to work from areas adjacent to the Hongkong's Position British and French districts are, as a result, out of employment.

Survivors Tell of Thetis' Last Plunge

WATER ROSE OVER MY HEAD. MY MIND

A COPYRIGHT INTERVIEW WITH THE LONDON "DAILY EXPRESS", MR. FRANK SHAW GAVE A DRAMATIC STORY OF HIS RESCUE FROM THE THETIS. IN THE COURSE OF THE INTERVIEW, HE SAID:

It was a fine morning when we left Cammell Laird's at Birkenhead in the Thetis for the submarine to do her acceptance trials in Liverpool Bay. The sea was very smooth.

I was in the control room when the order was given to dive. I didn't think much about it: the ship had been down before.

But I did have an idea she began to dip a bit steeply, and soon the angle was very steep. Then we hit the bottom. There was a heavy jolt—not a crash or anything-but it sent every one flying off his feet. We fell against the forward bulkhead and had to catch hold of something to try to stand up.

The deck was cocked at about 45 degs. Tools and binoculars and all sorts of loose gear came crashing down. Orders were given by shouts and by phone through the ship to shut all the watertight doors. We had to clamber about like monkeys because of the angle of the ship.

There was suddenly silence. All the machinery stopped-not because of the bump, but no orders from the control room. It was so quiet that you could hear men moving about. I looked at the men near me, and they looked at me. I suppose they realised, too, that something had gone wrong.

I helped to close our watertight doors. Though we were locked up in compartments the officers, using the phone, were able to speak at once to almost all parts of the ship.

We soon realised the forward compartments were flooded, but we discovered the men had managed to escape and close the watertight doors behind them.

So far as I can remember the lights were still on. Reports came to the control room from other parts of the Thetis that nothing had apparently been broken when we hit the bottom. We opened our watertight door leading to the next compartment, which was then almost underneath us because of the ship's

Ordered To Pump Out All The Fuel

No one thought about leaving her. We were all joking. There was to be a farewell party when we got back to Birkenhead after the acceptance trial. They made a lot of jokes about that.

The first move to try to surface the submarine was an order to get out fuel pipes, and pump out all fuel to make her lighter. That was how people came to see natches of oil on the sea.

There was no panic. All the machinery was under control.

Tennis Champion's Narrow Win Over Hans Nusslein: Tilden Overcomes Vines

Budge and his challenger were meeting in a match for the first time. Each had to appraise the other's values, to gauge unknown weapons, and to create strategy as the battle proceeded. Hits Barnett A Sporting Declaration

London, May 20. A splendid exhibition of enterprising batting on the part of Charles Barnett caused the downfall of Yorkshire at Bradford, where Gloucestershire gained a remarkable victory by six wickets with five minutes to spare.

Yorkshire's declaration was a most sporting one. The champions had obtained a first innings lead of 26 runs, and Sellers went all out for victory. The Yorkshire butsmer sacrificed their wickets in order to score quickly, and when Sellers declared Gloucestershire faced the task of making 189 in 100 minutes.

Hammond accepted the challenge and Barnett proceeded to punish the champlon's attack in merciless fash ion. The two England bowlers Bowes and Verity, came in for severe treatment. Within 25 minutes the total reached 55, Barnett claiming 50 and altogether he batted only an hour being first to leave after scoring 9 out of 132.

BOWES HIT FOR SIXES

In spite of his fearless hitting, Barnett gave no semblance of a chance stid his strokes included four 6's and eight 4's. Two of his 6's came in one ever from Bowes—one being a hit over the square leg boundary and the other at drive into the pavilion

Barnett was attempting his fifth 6 when its fell to a brilliant catch by Mitchell, who held the ball inches short of the boundary. For a logic lime Sinfield, Barnett's postner, prid a watching brief so completely was he overshadowed, but he played his part well. There were five 4's to Sinfield's credit and which was third to leave after bating 80 minues, Gloucestershire required only 29 more with 20 minutes the fun, each helping himself to a six, and Gloucestershire, getting the display. runs in 95 minutes, gained their first win over Yorkshire since they beat them twice in 1934.

Three superb volleys gave him the match at 13-11, 2-6, 6-4.

Lord Aberdare, when he presented the Wembley Cup to Budge, was right in describing the contest as of Wimbledon pattern. Its nearest analogy, although that was a five-set instead of a three-set match, was the great American-German struggle in the Davis Cup inter-zone final of 1937 between Budge and Von Cramm, Mrs. whom Nusslein had coached. Of course, Von Cramm had a better service than his coach, and used it Hongkong Stock Exchange-official to build up his 4-1 lead in the fifth set, but I believe that Budge will

The big Wembley gallery gave Tilden quite an ovation when he defeated Ellsworth Vines in two sets, 6-2, 10-8. The American champion who succeeded him at Wimbledon may have been below his besthe had been practising golf at Hoylake earlier in the day and the servling of two masters at the same time was doubtless a handicap-yet neither he nor the crowd can have expected such a resuscitation of Tilden's dominating vigour.

The light of battle gleamed in Tilden's eye. From now until the end, despite, one or two chances missed, he was the champion of old. A more stirring recovery I have seldom seen.

First he broke through Vines' service to love to reach 3-4, then he squared with hammer blows from his own broad shoulders; next he broke through again to lead 5-4, then he was 30-love on his own service, and might have been 40love if his aim had not been deflected by a net-cord ball.

Belt & be

Fashionable

DARIS has given waists the top line in the Fashion story this season. Practically every frock is belted to emphasize this vogue. The new wide belts especially give effect to the present femiline and girlish look of the top of dresses, and enhance the grace of a slender waist, without the restrictions of tight lacing.

So important has this accessory not become that a fashionable belt bar has opened London where the belts are so varied that you are sure of finding one to give the right touch of originality to your dress.

Belts merge into the style, they are not merely a violent con-trast this season. The white tulle dress from Chanel sketched here, with its navy spots of varying size, has an air of pristine freshness. Beneath the little jacket the white tulle blouse is belted with a soft silk belt. 12.1

In the second model of printed silk the belt follows the buttoned line of the bodice, while black velvet encircles the waist of the frilled skirted dress and ties in a bow at the back.

LIKED a deep corselet belt of soft suede that was laced at the front. Another in American patent leather cloth had a stiff buckram front six inches deep which narrowed off to the side and had a concealed zipp fastening:

Tiny leaves in different coloured suede of soft tonings faced another style, while other designs, quite narrow, are to be had in their hundreds so that every frock can be complemented by the right belt.

For gay multi-coloured dresses choose the embroidered ones, or those trimmed with five or six narrow lines of American cloth in different colours stitched on to a net background. For selfcoloured playtime frocks the accompanying belt is usually of plaited string or webbing.

And now a word on the style that will suit you. The small or average figure can wear belts of bootlace thickness or as wide as you please!

Maybe, however, you are on the plump side, then if you have a flared skirt and slightly padded shoulders and want to convey the impression of a narrow waist, start your belt from either side, but never wear an all-round belt.

Typical of the modern architecture at the New York Fair is the spiral ramp that leads downward from the Trylon and Perisphere, theme centre of the vast exhibit. Visitors to the "City of Tomorrow" obtain a sweeping view of the grounds, with flags of many nations fluttering against the sky, as they descend the ramp.

A plea for leniency sell on deaf cars when Chiu Tak, 30, and Lui Yuen, 25, were convicted before the Chief Justice Sir Atholl MacGregor at the Criminal Sessions yesterday of armed robbery at 37, Lion Rock Road on May 8, robbing Li San, and her two daughters, Ng Mei and Ng Ha, of H.K.$561, $600 Chinese currency and a quantity of jewellery. rency and a quantity of jewellery. Lui lio, a 28-year-old woman was charged with receiving.

Chiu and Lui pleaded guilty, and the former asked for leniency on the grounds that his mother was 70 years of age and that he had several children unable to earn money. His Lordship replied that he had shown leniency towards the woman he had robbed.

Chiu was sentenced to four years and 12 strokes of the cane, and Lui was given three and a half years and 12 strokes of the cat. Lui Ho, the woman, was also convicted, but her sentence was suspended until the next Sessions. When the things were handed over to her the man had been the only witness.

The jury found her guilty by a state of the scene by telephone and he examined the premises.' Defendant said that she occupied a small bed space near the verandah window. On the window sill near this space was found another parcel wrapped up in a baby's garment, and inside which were two smaller packets of money in sums of $130 and $6. She said that the parcels had been given to her by a boy on the stairs and she did not know what was inside them.

ONLY PROMPT, frenzied action by the crew prevented the Norwegian freighter Utsire from becoming a mass of flames when a fire broke out as the vessel lay at a West Point buoy this morning. There was half an hour's anxious fighting in choking smoke before it was certain that the ship was safe.

U.S. CONCERN

America Offers Its Services

WASHINGTON, June 19. Secretary of State, to-day formally expressed the United States concern over the "broader aspects" of the developments in Tientsin, and revealed that the good offices of the Consul Tientsin had been offered for the purposes of mediation. The text of Mr. Hull's statement

"This Government is not concerned with the original incident in Tientsin relating to the requested delivery of four accused Chinese.

"It is concerned, however, with the nature and significance of the subsequent developments in their broader aspects, coupled with other past and present acts and utterances in other parts of China.

"This Government, therefore, observing with special interest related developments in China as they occur from day to day,"

Stretches Death

A WALL of pulsating and invisible death, fed from the giant generators of the Tientsin Electric Power Station, now surrounds the British and French Concessions in Britain's Mafeking of the Far East.

Sharply at 10 o'clock last night, the Japanese authorities fulfilled their warning issued by proclamation nine hours earlier, and threw in the switches that sent 240 volts of death through thirty miles of barbed wire surrounding the two Concessions.

SWIFT DEATH COMES

BLOCKADE COMPLETED

Electrification of the barrier of barbed wire has effectively completed the isolation of the two Concessions. It is virtually impossible now for any person to leave or, enter the Concession without submitting to indignities at the hands of the Japanese.

Yesterday only three hundred from Calcutta, the ship offered easy persons passed the seven barriers, compared with the normal flow of over 100,000.

Practically every factory in the two Concessions is now idle, and tens of thousands of Chinese who _formerly__commuted _to work from areas adjacent to the British and French districts are, as a result, out of employment. Meanwhile, Japanese-inspired agitation amongst the masses outside the Concessions is proceeding with unabated vigour and a Japanese report claims somewhat glecfully this morning that anti-British sentiment has taken a distinct turn for the worse.

A joint committee of pro-Japanese bodies has been set up to prepare various plans for continuing anti-

Hongkong Agitation

The return of all foreign Concessions and Settlements to China forms prominent part of the programme. In this respect, not even Hongkong is exempt from the plans of the new organisation, which the Japanese hope to extend to the entire occupied area. A noticeable feature of antiforeign agitation during the past 24 hours has been the sudden inclusion of France in the tirades spread by agitators and pamphlets. There was a mass demonstration outside the French Concession in municated Washington's readiness to portholes of the Chief Steward's Hankow—the only remaining Foreign Concession in the Wuhan cities—during which agitators stirred up the mob to demand that the 'Frenchmen

WATERROSE OVER MY HEAD. MY MIND

COPYRIGHT INTERVIEW WITH THE LONDON "DAILY EXPRESS", MR. FRANK SHAW GAVE A DRAMATIC STORY OF HIS RESCUE FROM THE THETIS. IN THE COURSE OF THE INTERVIEW, HE SAID:

It was a fine morning when we left Cammell Laird's at Birkenhead in the Thetis for the submarine to do her acceptance trials in Liverpool Bay. The sea was very smooth.

I was in the control room when the order was given to dive. I didn't think much about it: the ship had been down before.

But I did have an idea she began to dip a bit steeply, and soon the angle was very steep. Then we hit the bottom. There was a heavy jolt—not a crash or anything—but it sent every one flying off his feet. We fell against the forward bulkhead and had to catch hold of something to try to stand up.

The deck was cocked at about 45 degs. Tools and binoculars and all sorts of loose gear came crashing down. Orders were given by shouts and by phone through the ship to shut all the watertight doors. We had to clamber about like monkeys because of the angle of the ship.

There was suddenly silence. All the machinery stopped—not because of the bump, but no orders from the control room. It was so quiet that you could hear men moving about. I looked at the men near me, and they looked at me. I suppose they realised, too, that something had gone wrong.

I helped to close our watertight doors. Though we were locked up in compartments the officers, using the phone, were able to speak at once to almost all parts of the ship.

We soon realised the forward compartments were flooded, but we discovered the men had managed to escape and close the watertight doors behind them.

So far as I can remember the lights were still on. Reports came to the control room from other parts of the Thetis that nothing had apparently been broken when we hit the bottom. We opened our watertight door leading to the next compartment, which was then almost underneath us because of the ship's angle.

Gloria Stuart En Route to Colony TO-MORROW

TWELVE-MONTHS-OLD Gloria Sheekman is arriving in Hongkong to-morrow.

Which isn't really news, although her photographs show that she's a fine, bonny baby.

But Baby Gloria is coming with her mother. Which is news. Mother is Gloria Stuart, who has long ago captured the hearts of local film-goers in "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm". along with a score of other pictures.

Hubby Arthur Sheekman, who is enormously proud of his beautiful wife and equally beautiful daughter, is a Hollywood scenario writer.

He was the man who wrote the movements through hilarlously funny scenario for the Marx Brothers in "A Day at the Circus."

The Far Eastern tour which will bring the Hollywood couple and their tiny daughter to Hongkong tomorrow was not embarked upon on the German-Slovak Treaty of March the spur of the moment:

Ambition Fulfilled

It has long been one of Gloria's ambitions to see Shanghal, Honge kong and other places about which she's heard so much.

Friends told them they were crazy to come to the Far East while a war was in progress. But, so far, they've enjoyed every minute of it. They will remain in Hongkong

Danzig are regarded in German poll- until Saturday, when they will emtical circles as the "beginning of a bark in the Burns Philp liner final spurt for the reincorporation of Neptuna for Australia, via Salgon, Manila, and British New Guinea. Miss Stuart will shortly be seen no indication of the manner in which in Hongkong in "The Three Musit is contemplated this will be accom- keteers," which is coming to the King's Theatre.

Gloria Stuart is one of Hollywood's intellectuals. She took a degree in Philosophy at California University before completing an extensive education. She edited a literary review. She appeared at an Art theatre in plays by Tchekov and Shaw. And she married an art student. Yet she is human enough to confess that her favourite novels are "all kinds of mystery stories," and-because both she and her husband prefer the vie de Boheme-she still does her own cooking and housework. Miss Stuart played her first important screen part in "The Old Dark House." She appeared subsequently in "Airmail," "Private Jones," "It's Great to be Alive," "The Girl in 419." and "The Kiss Before the Mirror."

OPEN LETTER -

TO MEN AND WOMEN OF

'INDIVIDUALITY'

- THAT IS, TO YOU.

Think of all those things such as suits, dresses, ties, hats, which go to make up that most important factor in your life -"appearance", your personal "shop-window", so to speak, by which so many judge you.

These things fall into two clear classes - the average and the "individual". The average may be good - let us give full credit to it. But it is average. It is what most others have. It makes you average - one of many, one necessarily lacking distinction.

The individualist, because his or her judgment is finer, more subtle and more courageous, finds the better and more distinctive things. You spot these people at a glance among the multitude - and you notice that somehow, wherever they go, they command respect, attention and service. By their dress, their speech, their homes and their friends, you know them-

And by their cars, you know them. Daimler engineers have always produced cars for individualists. There has never been a time when ownership of a Daimler has not given prestige and distinction. As the Chief of the Daimler engineers, I have always found in our work the joy and pride of making cars of character - a pride and joy which passes on to the individual man or woman who acquires the Daimler we create.

Creation is the right word for the Daimler "Twenty" here presented to you. It is not ready-made. It is not a "Kanufacture". It is an individually engineered piece of machinery which will commend itself instantly to you.

For the Daimler "Twenty" has those deep qualities of breed which mean so much to you.

It is your car.

Finnish Dissension Reported

Helsinki, June 19. According to the newspaper "Uusi Suomi," Field-Marshal Mannerheim has offered to Premier A. K. Cajander his resignation as head of the National Defence Council.

Premier Cajander, however, denies that he has received the resignation. All members of the Cabinet are staying outside the capital, and confirmation of the newspaper report is not to be obtained.

Political quarters, however, believe that Field-Marshal Mannerheim did offer his resignation, probable in connection with the Aland Islands question.

It is also noted that General Sir Walter Kirke, Inspector of the Bri-The veteran, opening with a three- tish Home Forces was invited to love lead, took the first set in the dinner by Field-Marshal Mannerheim eighth game. GERMAN'S GREAT FIGHT AGAINST DONALD BUDGE

Lord Aberdare, when he presented the Wembley Cup to Budge, was right in describing the contest as of Wimbledon pattern. Its nearest analogy, although that was a five-set instead of a three-set match, was the great American-German struggle in Davis Cup inter-zone final of 1937 between Budge and Von Cramm, whom Nusslein had conched. Of course, Von Cramm had a better service than his coach, and used it to build up his 4-1 lead in the fifth set, but I believe that Budge will A REPORT from Batavia say that the older German's ground

TILDEN'S GREAT RECOVERY

The big Wembley gallery gave Tilden quite an ovation when he defeated Ellsworth Vines in two sets, 6-2, 10-8. The American champion who succeeded him at Wimbledon may have been below his besthe had been practising golf at Hoylake earlier in the day and the serving of two masters at the same time was doubtless a handleap-yet neither he nor the crowd can have expected such a resuscitation of Tilden's dominating vigour.

he was unleashing many of his old Finnish Foreign Minister and high services and forehand drives, while Finnish army officers .-- Trans-Ocean his backhand, less sliced than usual, had an almost uncanny accuracy. He was in full cry, and Vines was dragging, a little slow of foot, behind. But in the second set, sensing the need for reprisal. Vines raced into a 4-I lead, and most people thought the veteran's challenge had been completed. What a surprise for them and for Vines! The light of battle gleamed in Tilden's eye. From now until the end, despite one or two chances missed, he was the champion of old. A more stirring recovery First he broke through Vines' service to love to reach 3-4, then he squared with hammer blows from his own broad shoulders; next he broke through again to lead 5-4, then he was 30-love on his own service, and might have been 40love if his aim had not been deflected by a net-cord ball. It looked, when Vines took his is working very satisfactorily.

own service from 15 to lead 0-5, if Tilden's effort, after all, would be in vain. For now, "acing" again Vines led 7—6 and 8—7. But Tilden, ever sanguine, had something left. In the long and brilliantly fought 17th game he gained another vital service break. Could he now serve himself out in the old dramatic way? The answer was immediate. Two aces gave him victory. Among the spectators were Princess

Helena Victoria and Princess Marie Louise, devotees of Wimbledon, who watched from the crowded restaurant. Gate receipts for, the three days exceeded expectations. Wear a Wide

Belt & be

Fashionable

PARIS has given waists the top line in the Fashion story this season. Practically every frock is belted to emphasize this vogue. The new wide belts especially give effect to the present feminine and girlish look of the top of dresses, and enhance the grace of a slender waist, without the restrictions of tight lacing.

So important has this accessory not become that a fashionable belt bar has opened London where the belts are so varied that you are sure of finding one to give the right touch of originality to your dress.

Belts merge into the style, they are not merely a violent contrast this season. The white tulle dress from Chanel sketched here, with its navy spots of varying size, has an air of pristine freshness. Beneath the little jacket the white tulle blouse is belted with a soft silk belt.

In the second model of printed silk the belt follows the buttoned line of the bodice, while black velvet encircles the waist of the frilled skirted dress and ties in a bow at the back.

LIKED a deep corselet belt of soft suede that was laced -at the front. Another in American patent leather cloth had a stiff buckram front six inches deep which narrowed off to the side and had a concealed zipp fastening.

Tiny leaves in different coloured suede of soft tonings faced another style, while other designs, quite narrow, are to be had in their hundreds so that every frock can be complemented by the right belt.

. For gay multi-coloured dresses choose the embroidered ones, or those trimmed with five or six narrow lines of American cloth in different colours stitched on to a net background. For selfcoloured playtime frocks the accompanying belt is usually of plaited string or webbing.

And now a word on the style that will suit you. The small or average figure can wear belts of bootlace thickness or as wide as you please!

Maybe, however, you are on the plump side, then if you have a flared skirt and slightly padded shoulders and want to convey the impression of a narrow waist, start your belt from either side, but never wear an all-round belt.

Typical of the modern architecture at the New York Fair is the spiral ramp that leads downward from the Trylon and Perisphere, theme centre of the vast exhibit. Visitors to the "City of Tomorrow" obtain a sweeping view of the grounds, with flags of many nations fluttering against the sky, as they descend the ramp.

Pirates Tell Of Hunger And Great Storm In Eloquent Pleas In Court

"I must tell the Court why I had to rob. "I was a soldier in China. I met with the Japanese forces and I was defeated. I had to run away to save my life.

This was part of an extraordinary statement in the dock at the Criminal Sessions this morning by one of seven men who were charged with piracy.

The story told in Court before a Jury comprising Messrs. A. C. Tinson (Foreman) Cheung Wai-nam, D. W. Wagstaffe, J. E. de Souza, Cheung U-pul, A. R. Razack and Lok Juhkuin reads like fiction.

So Ming, 25, Lam Sum, 24, Tsul Tin, 24, Wong Tam-kwai, 23, Leung Wan 24, and Ng On, 28, Wong Shui- shipping concerns here have issued a ki were charged with (a) robbing notification saying that as from TIENTSIN, June 20.—It is disclos—Cheung Fo, master of junk 3316, of Thursday June 22 freight rates will ed that the electrification of the of receiving stolen property.

He made his way to Tai O, and finally to Shaukiwan where he reported the robbery to the Police.

Sub-Inspector R. F. Oliviel, of No 1 Police Launch, said that on May 2, accompanied by S. I. Cunningham and Chuch, he made a tour of Rocky Harbour and Port Shelter in an effort to catch up with the robbers. The launch was south of Rocky Harbour when a junk answering to the description of the stolen vessel was sighted, with another one attached to it. Three men got out of the junk and rowed away, and when they did not stop when hailed five rounds were fired from a Winchester rifle across the bow of the boat. After this the boat approached the junk. The defendants were arrested. None of the defendants gave evidence but made statements from the dock. Wong Shui-ki accused So Ming of robbing his junk and of setting sail with him. Wong sald: "When the boat arrived at Ching Sham, I wanted to get ashore but I was stopped. Since I was absolutely in their hands could do nothing but submit to their

The Jury, without retiring, returned a verdict of guilty, by a majority of 5-2, in the cases of the four accused on each of the two robbery charges.

The three accused who had pleaded guilty were lined up with the other four men and were asked by His Lordship. "Now, would any one of you to go and steal wou like to tell me why you do this."

They were sentenced to four years hard labour on the two counts.

Sentencing the remaining four men to three years' hard labour each, His Lordship said: If people steal your boat, well, it is just bad luck. There is no need for you to go and steal somebody else's boat."

Now, would any one of you like to tell me why you do this.
